OUR MISSION

AID FOR AIDS International (AFAI) is a non-profit 501 (c) (3) organization committed to improving the quality of life of people with HIV or AIDS (PWHAs) in developing countries and for immigrants to the United States of America living with HIV. We work to empower PWHAs, their caregivers, and the community at large by providing access to medications, health education, HIV prevention strategies and advocacy and by promoting leadership and capacity building for individuals and organizations.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Dear Friends,

For the past sixteen years, AID FOR AIDS International has been in the forefront of the battle against HIV and AIDS. We have been the place to turn to when help was needed in the United States and abroad. For over a decade now, I have been honored to be a part of this astonishing organization, first as an involved supporter and now, proudly, as president of its Board of Directors.

In my role as president, I want to present the 2011 Annual Report, a compendium of AFAl's work throughout the year, and an opportunity to recognize the support of all our donors. We have persevered through hard economic times thanks to the dedication of our staff and the generous support of friends and donors like you. I have no doubt that our best years are still ahead, as we are just beginning to see the full potential of our organization come into fruition.

So let us look toward the future together with confidence. We have the knowledge and means to bring comfort and hope to the world's most vulnerable populations. Our proven ability to raise public awareness about HIV and AIDS and direct people to proper care and treatment augur well for the organization.

Your past support of AID FOR AIDS International means that you and I share a dream: reduced rates of HIV and a new generation free of AIDS. Together, with your continued support, we can transform that dream into a reality. Thank you for all you have done in the past. Let us now build on our momentum and take our achievements to new heights.

Sincerely,

Maria Eugenia Maury
President

LETTER FROM THE FOUNDER & EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Dear Friends,

When I started AFAl in 1996, I never thought the demand for services would be so high all these years later. Still today, we get calls for assistance from people everywhere around the world. With your help, we are continuing to answer those calls.

Over the years, AFAl has saved thousands of lives, provided free access to medication to thousands of individuals, and educated and empowered thousands of young people. We have sent over $85 million worth of antiretroviral medication to more than ten thousand people living with HIV and AIDS in nearly 40 countries around the globe.

In the years since our founding, we have again and again witnessed the remarkable growth and extraordinary resilience of people. We have seen girls born with HIV become healthy mothers. We have seen women, certain they would die because they had contracted the virus, regain their health and turn into successful businesswomen and homemakers. We have seen young men, devastated by an HIV diagnosis, educate themselves about treatment and transmission, accept responsibility for their own lives and go on to make powerful differences in the lives of others. We have seen despair turn to hope and hope blossom into love. We invite you to become part of this astounding transformation.

AFAl is unique because it is about more than the fight against AIDS. It is about providing tools to people from all walks of life so that they can create a world in which everyone has an equal voice. Yes, we give medicines to save lives, provide HIV-prevention education, and promote access to treatment. But implicit in those acts is the empowerment of people to become active, productive, and integrated members of society who will advocate vigorously for the lives and rights of others.

Thank you for helping us to achieve such a world. With your help, I know we will see it come into being.

Jesús Aguais
Founder, AID FOR AIDS International

OUR PROGRAMS

Since 1996, AID FOR AIDS International has worked to empower people with HIV and AIDS, their families, and communities through programs that provide access to treatment, knowledge and preventive education, and social reform.

ACCESS TO TREATMENT

AID FOR AIDS International (AFAI) operates the largest HIV Medicine Recycling Program in the world. AFAI's HIV Medicine Recycling Program recovers unused and unexpired life-saving medication that otherwise would have been wasted and then, re-distributes it to those without access in developing countries through the AIDS Treatment Access Program. With these programs, AFAI provides vital medication to people with HIV or AIDS and connects them to key services for treatment planning and resource management. Since 1996, AFAI has sent over 85 million dollars in medication to over 15,000 people in 39 countries.

EDUCATION

AID FOR AIDS International (AFAI) hosts HIV prevention programs that target youth, high-risk and vulnerable populations in order to empower them with the life skills necessary to become leaders of change within their communities and to reduce the prevailing stigma and discrimination surrounding the HIV epidemic.

¿Cuánto Sabes de VIH y Sida?, AFAI's largest education program, is an innovative initiative that uses neuro-linguistic programming as a transverse axis, combining HIV and AIDS education with life skills as defined by the World Health Organization (WHO). The program is transmitted through peer-to-peer education techniques (Multiplying Agents). This model aims to prevent the spread of HIV by developing a culture of responsibility and healthy sexuality. The program reaches over 100,000 youth per year and has been implemented in 8 different countries in Latin America and the Caribbean.

ADVOCACY

AID FOR AIDS International (AFAI) works with organizations and people with HIV by providing them with the tools they need to defend themselves in response to the HIV and AIDS epidemic. Since its inception in 2006, the surveillance tool Observatorio Latino has become the premier online forum in Latin America, serving as a watchdog for programs financed by the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis, and Malaria. Our work in alliance with other organizations and agencies in the region has been one of the most successful strategies used to accomplish our goals in the areas of community participation and decision-making processes.

OUR PROGRAMS ACCESS

AIDS TREATMENT ACCESS PROGRAM AND THE RECYCLING PROGRAM

Through our flagship initiative, the HIV Medicine Recycling Program, we collect unused, unexpired antiretroviral (ARV) medications that are often thrown away in the United States. We redistribute these medications through our AIDS Treatment Access Program (ATAP) as humanitarian aid, free of charge, to registered recipients in the developing world.

ATAP is the largest program of its type in the world, and since our founding, we have sent over $80 million worth of ARV medication to nearly 15,000 people living with HIV or AIDS in more than 39 countries around the globe.

We inspect every pill for purity and every bottle for drug name, dosage, and expiration date. We then ship these medications to people with HIV in developing countries who have no other source to access the medication.

Our US medical team maintains regular communication with our beneficiaries, home-country doctors and health care providers to ensure proper use of the medication. We monitor treatment planning, review patient charts, help assure medication adherence and conduct stringent follow-ups, and continue providing the drug until local governments guarantee treatment.

In 2011, AFAI recycled $5.5 million worth of HIV medication and redistributed $5.3 million in HIV medicine in 39 developing countries

CASE MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

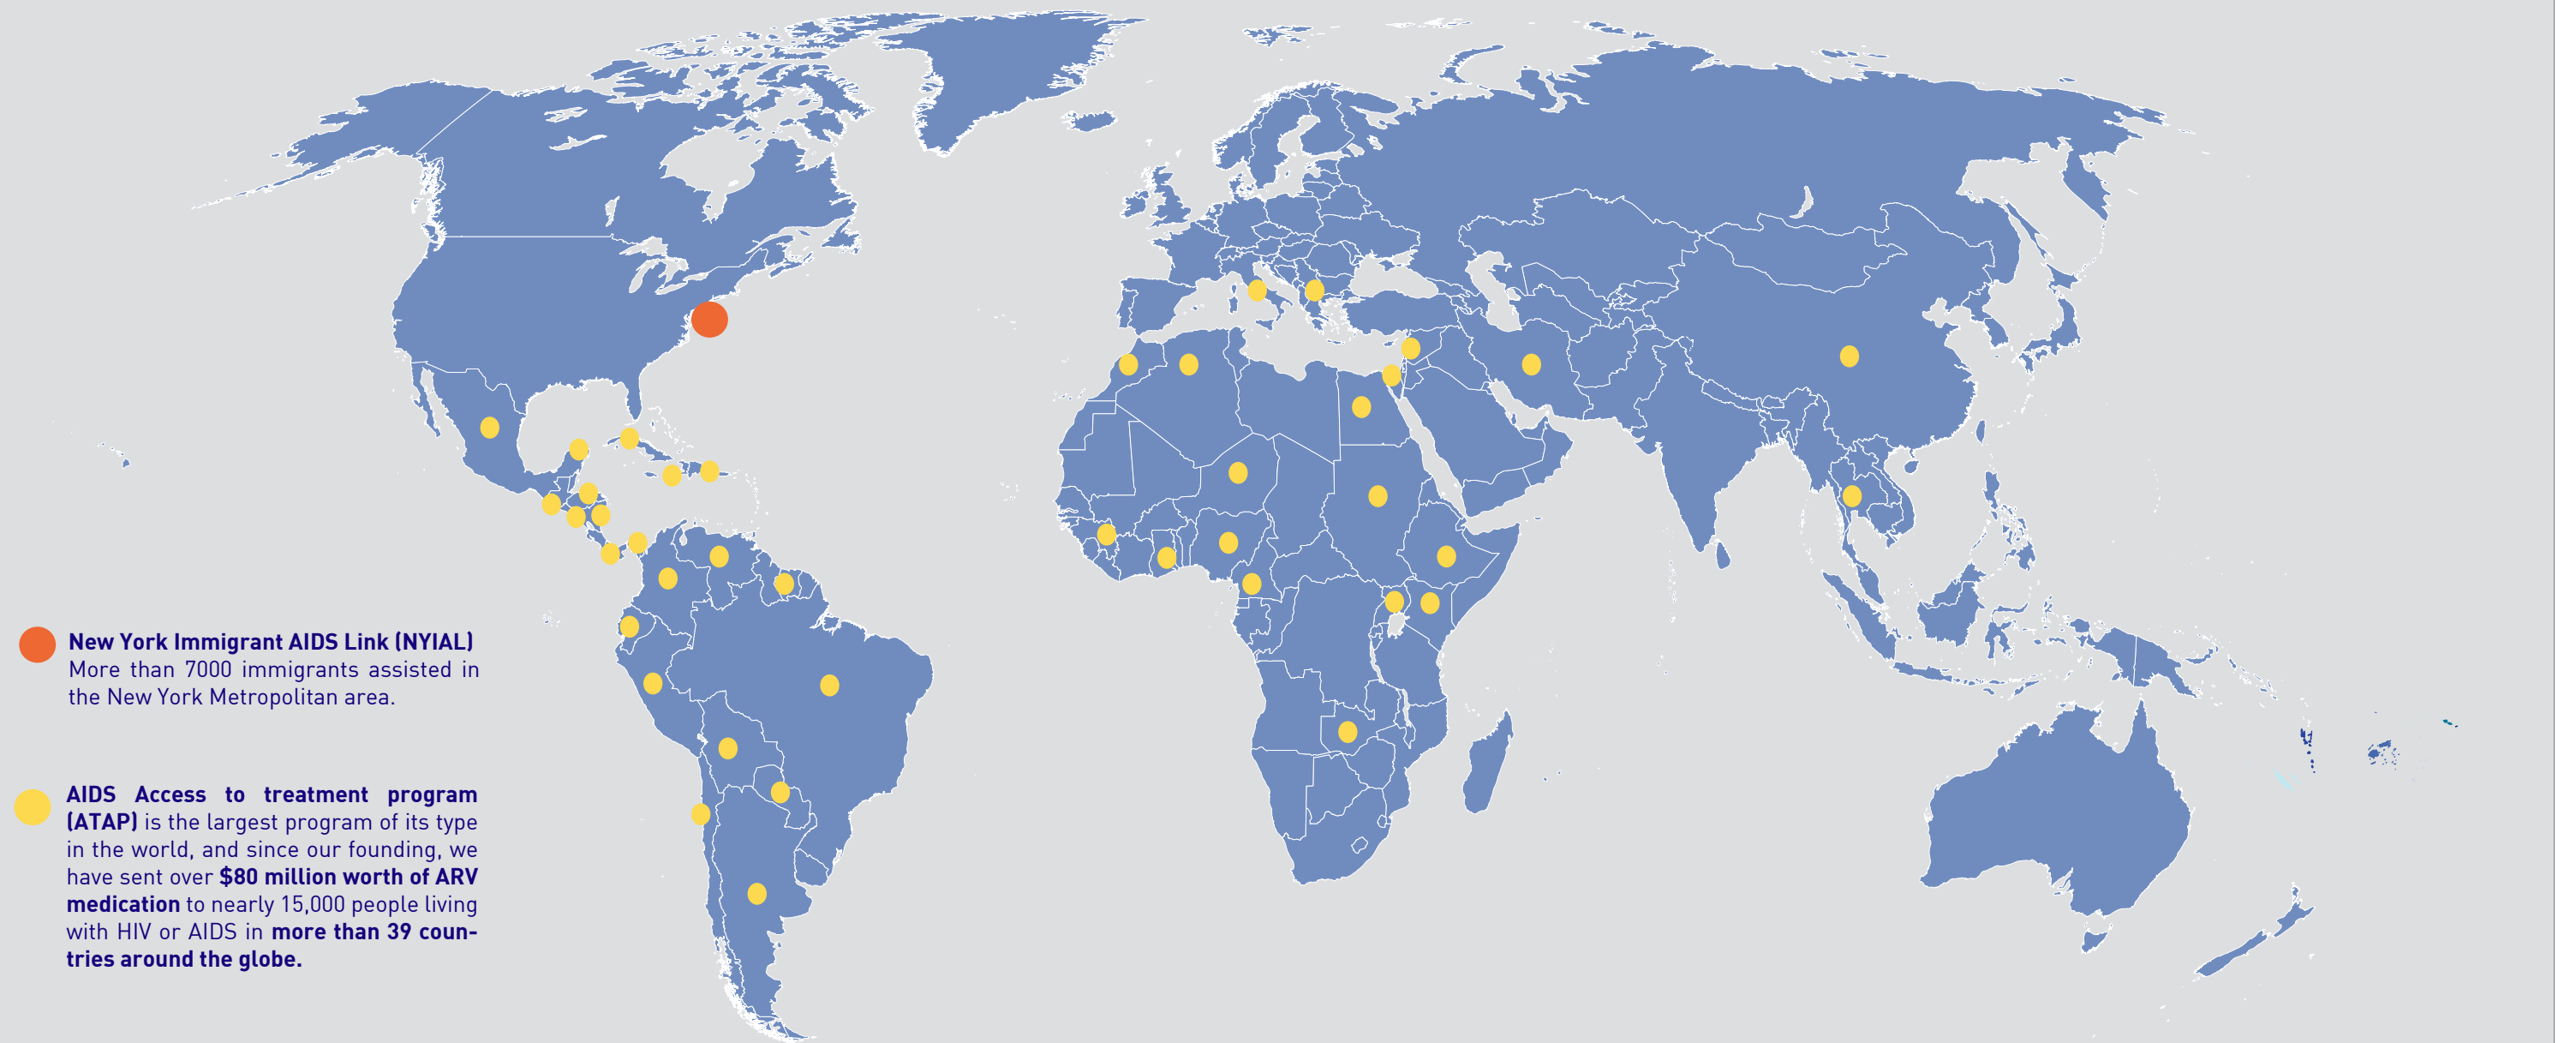

AID FOR AIDS maintains high standards of confidentiality and professionalism to ensure the best results in the case management for people with HIV. Based out of our New York City office, the New York Immigrant AIDS Link (NYIAL) program was founded in 2001 and works primarily with Spanish-speaking immigrants living with HIV or AIDS in the New York Metropolitan Area. Currently, our caseload includes approximately 350 active clients and we add 120 new clients in average each year.

NYIAL offers case management, individual counseling, primary HIV education, HIV testing and counseling, a free legal clinic, and financial management workshops. We also provide referrals to a wide range of social services including public assistance, housing, ADAP/Medicaid, dental, mental health, and primary care. NYAL provides concrete and emotional support to help Latino and other immigrants adjust to a new environment, language, culture, and health care system.

We have assisted more than 7,000
immigrants
since this program's inception.

OUR PROGRAMS EDUCATION

CUANTO SABES DE VIH Y SIDA? (HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW ABOUT HIV AND AIDS?)

Cuanto Sabes? is an HIV primary prevention program aimed at teenagers in Latin America and the Caribbean who are trained to become leaders and agents of change in their communities. The program is based on a peer-as-educator model in which young people initially receive training from professional educators to become leaders in their schools and communities, and then pass along what they have learned to their peers.

The program incorporates:

- Concepts of HIV and AIDS prevention techniques
- Sexual education
- Stigma awareness
- Discrimination alleviation
- The World Health Organization's Development of Life Skills: communication, negotiation/refusal, assertiveness, cooperation, and empathy.
- Cognitive skills: problem solving, decision-making, critical thinking, and self-evaluation.
- Emotional coping skills: managing stress, managing feelings, and self-management.

In 2011 479 professors trained
4350 Peer Educators trained
391,500 adolescents reached
185 schools participating

CUANTO SABES DE VIH Y SIDA? (HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW ABOUT HIV AND AIDS?)

Cuanto Sabes? is an innovative program that incorporates concepts of neuro-linguistic programming (NLP) as a traverse axis, combining HIV and AIDS education with life skills as defined by the World Health Organization (WHO). The program enables young peer educators to frame discussions of HIV transmission and prevention principles in ways that have maximum impact on their teenaged peers.

Since its creation in 2006, Cuanto sabes? has been implemented in eight different countries in Latin America and the Caribbean, including: Honduras, Guatemala, Colombia, Dominican Republic, Panama, Ecuador, Peru, and Venezuela.

CUANTO SABES DE VIH Y SIDA? (HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW ABOUT HIV AND AIDS?)

PEER-TO-PEER INTERACTIONS

1. Prospective peer educators undergo training in which they are presented with academic information, educational tools, and techniques they will need to train other adolescent peer educators.
2. After the new peer educator candidates have been recruited, peer trainings are conducted.
3. Following completion of the training, the new leaders are expected to pass along HIV-prevention concepts to their peers who, in turn, will pass them along to others.
4. These peer-to-peer interactions are coordinated and supervised by the trained facilitators.

The wide range of course material includes:

- Public speaking
- The differences between HIV and AIDS
- The difference between transmission and contagion
- Routes of HIV transmission
- Teens and sexuality
- Risk reduction and prevention techniques
- Healthy and responsible behavior
- The rights of people living with HIV and AIDS
- How to counteract the stigma that surrounds HIV issues
- Concepts of HIV and AIDS prevention techniques
- Sexual education
- Stigma awareness
- Discrimination alleviation

CUANTO SABES DE VIH Y SIDA? (HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW ABOUT HIV AND AIDS?)

SEXUAL MINORITY YOUTH PILOT INITIATIVE

1. Cuanto Sabes? also has a specially designed training program for Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender (LGBT) teenagers in the region.
2. Facilitators train LGBT youth who have expressed an interest to become youth leaders of HIV prevention and multiplying agents. The LGBT curriculum incorporates the basic concepts of the regular curriculum but has been expanded to include in depth discussions of sexual diversity, gender-related violence, and political impact.
3. The LGBT initiative, launched in 2011 as a pilot initiative, has been implemented in four participating countries: Colombia, Dominican Republic, Panama, and Venezuela.

OUR PROGRAMS EDUCATION

THE CHILDREN'S PROGRAM

Established in 2003, the Children's Program serves approximately 400 children with HIV, aged 3 to 15.

The Children's Program offers emotional and educational support and strives to help children achieve a healthy adolescence and maturation process that might otherwise elude them given their precarious health situation.

The program has three distinct components:

1. Age-appropriate counseling through one-on-one sessions with a social worker trained to address youth developmental issues, including those related to chronic health issues.
2. Intensive one-on-one psychotherapy for children in acute distress.
3. Nine types of play activities designed to promote self-esteem, enhance coping skills, and promote important health goals (such as adherence to antiviral drug regimens).

Objectives:

- Develop bio, psycho, social, and spiritual well being of children with HIV in order to increase adherence to treatment.
- Improve knowledge of HIV and AIDS, increase the rate of treatment adherence, and ensure attendance to routine medical appointments.
- Provide psychosocial support to enable the children to enjoy their childhood.
- Assist all children in the program to realize their education potential, particularly focusing on those children identified as having cognitive deficits, attention difficulties, or behavioral problems.

THE CHILDREN'S PROGRAM

Aprendo a Amarme y a Cuidarme

An integral component of our Children's Program is the initiative "Aprendo a Amarme y a Cuidarme" (Learning to love and take care of myself)

With this education initiative, we provide children with the tools they need to prepare themselves for their medical consultations and achieve adherence to their treatment.

Children learn how to better express their feelings and emotions as well as how to achieve greater self-confidence, better social adaptation, and success as their lives progress.

As a result, the children make their health a priority in their own scale of values, which benefits their future by ensuring adherence to the antiretroviral treatment.

An important goal of the initiative is to allow the children to acquire the tools and information necessary to become peer educators, instructing their peers through example, which, in turn, should result in a new generation implementing these concepts into their daily lives.

We confer with each child's physician and parents to fully understand how we can best meet the child's particular needs.

OUR PROGRAMS EDUCATION

OUTREACH AND HIV TESTING PROGRAM

AID FOR AIDS International's office in New York has been actively involved in community outreach. Focused on the Latino community in the Greater New York Area, our Outreach and HIV Testing Program provides the necessary information about HIV and AIDS, preventive methods, and HIV Testing. Outreach activities, including free and confidential HIV testing on and off-site, are conducted throughout the year in partnership with local organizations and Latin American consulates in New York.

Achievements:

1. Since 2009, AID FOR AIDS New York has been a certified agency through the New York Department of Health and has conducted over 2,000 HIV tests.
2. Prevention information: around 1,000 individuals learn facts about HIV every month because of this program.
3. Our partnership with Latin American consulates has helped us to increase dramatically HIV awareness among the community of immigrants living in New York City.

"We collaborate with Latin American consulates in New York City to provide information regarding HIV prevention, testing, and other health issues."

OUR PROGRAMS ADVOCACY

OBSERVATORIO LATINO (LATIN OBSERVATORY)

AID FOR AIDS International (AFAI) works with organizations and people with HIV by providing them with the tools they need to defend themselves in response to the impact of HIV epidemic. Our work in alliance with other organizations and agencies in the region and through networks connecting them has been one of the most successful strategies in obtaining our goals related to community participation in its different levels of decision-making.

A key part of our work in Advocacy is conducted through our Observatorio Latino (www.observatoriolatino.org), a social surveillance tool pioneer in the Latin American region.

OUR PROGRAMS ADVOCACY

OBSERVATORIO LATINO (LATIN OBSERVATORY)

Observatorio Latino is an online surveillance and social vigilance tool, which serves as the “eyes” of the region for AIDS activists and community-based organizations in over 20 Spanish-speaking countries in Latin America and the Caribbean.

- This tool allows individuals to share information, news and experiences, and post meeting and events that are relevant to the HIV community.
- Individuals within these countries use the Observatorio Latino to comment on how their governments are using grant money awarded to them by the Global Fund for AIDS, Tuberculosis, and Malaria.
- This resource works to hold governments accountable to their people and to promote civic participation throughout the LAC region.

Observatorio Latino has become an established regional presence as a critical observer and source of information regarding Global Fund processes. It has also become a collaborator and advisor on proposals for financing in Bolivia, Ecuador, Guatemala, Honduras, and Panama.

To date, more than 1,000 relevant news articles and reports have been posted.

More than 15 organizations have been empowered by this initiative.

Observatorio Latino reaches more than 7,000 members from various forums through continuous updating of news stories and articles on its website.

OBSERVATORIO MUJER (WOMEN OBSERVATORY)

Observatorio Mujer gauges the response of local governments to women’s issues in regard to their HIV or AIDS vulnerability, sexual health, and reproductive rights.

This initiative was implemented at the national level in Peru, serving as a tool to pressure local government to comply with the need of women and girls with HIV.

We seek to ensure gender equality and a fair representation of women’s health issues in the different spaces of decision-making.

LEAVING A FOOTPRINT: FOR A WORLD WITHOUT A TRACE OF HIV

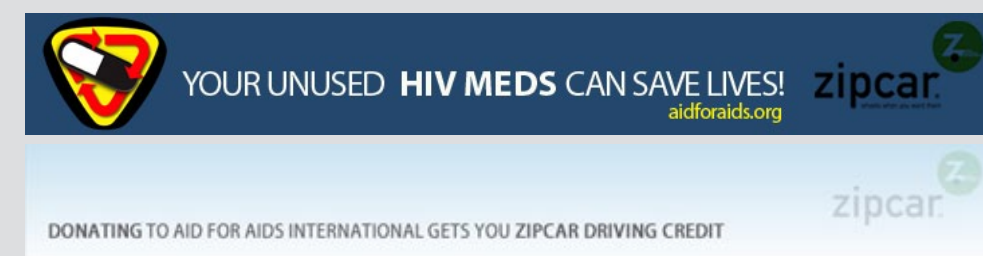

In 2011, AID FOR AIDS International (AFAI) launched a campaign supported by Air Europa Airlines to build awareness of AFAI's flagship medication recycling program and work in Latin America and the Caribbean.

Featured on every Air Europa flight, the year-long "Leaving A Footprint, For A World Without A Trace of HIV" campaign included a video spot and a full-page magazine ads encouraging passengers to "leave a footprint" in the global fight against the HIV epidemic by donating to AFAI.

The campaign shows the testimony of a 7 year-old girl who was born HIV-free thanks to the medication AFAI collects in the United States through its Recycling Program and re-distributes through its Access to Treatment Program.

ZIPCAR DRIVES AID FOR AIDS

Zipcar, Inc., the world's leading car sharing network, along with AID FOR AIDS International (AFAI) have formed a partnership to marry energy-efficient transportation and the battle against the AIDS epidemic.

Through this partnership, Zipcar provides us with the transportation necessary to move the medication from donors' homes and clinics to our headquarters where they are checked for quality, sorted and prepared for redistribution to our clients in developing countries.

During the summer of 2011, ZIPCAR also supported AFAI through a donation campaign promoted with new and existing Zipcar members who received driving credit after making a donation.

OUR CAMPAIGNS

MISS UNIVERSE – AMBASSADORS OF HIV PREVENTION

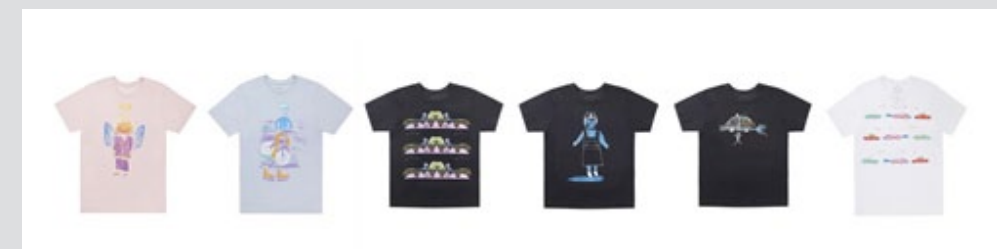

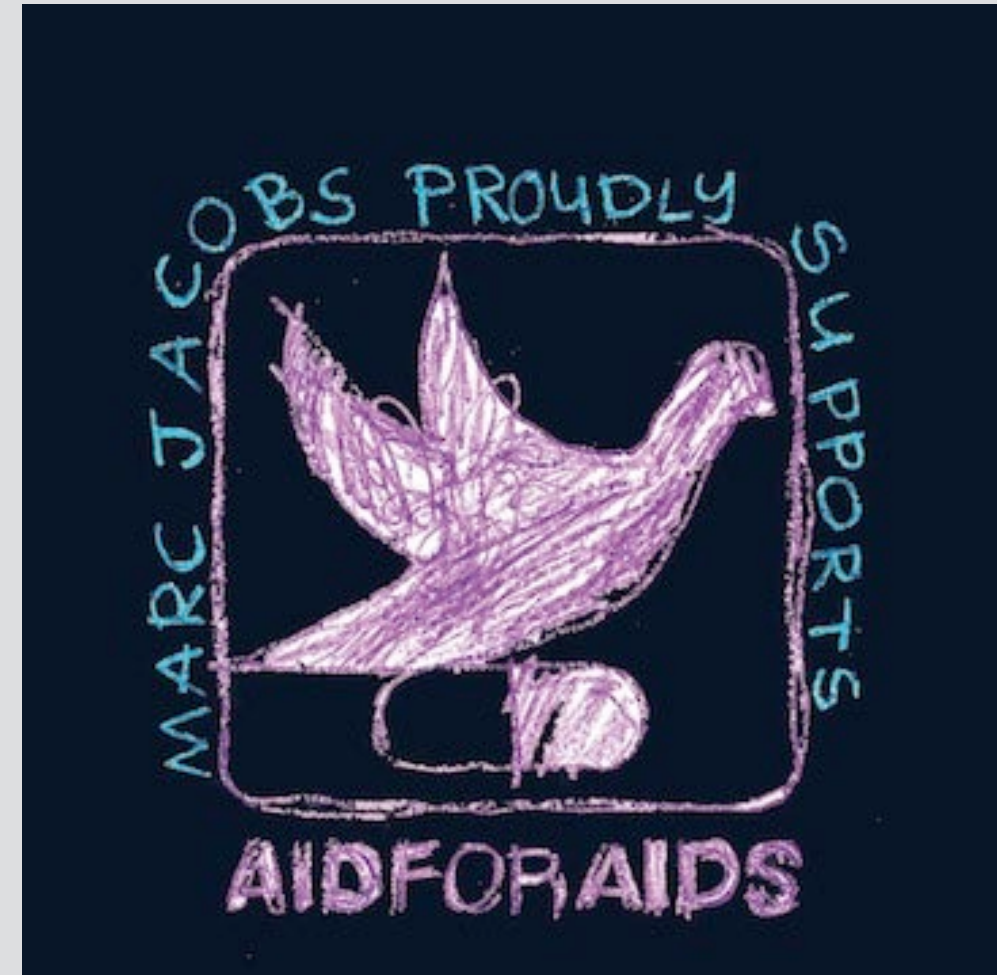

For the past two years, AFAI has worked closely with the Miss Universe Organization, training each titleholder as a spokesperson in the battle against HIV and AIDS. The relationship has been tremendously successful in building awareness of the importance of HIV prevention and AFAI's "Cuanto Sabes?", a primary HIV educational program primary financed by the Elton John AIDS Foundation.

This year, Ximena Naverrete, Miss Universe 2010, joined us on tours of Panama and Dominican Republic to spread the message of HIV prevention among students, educators, business and political leaders.

During her year-long relationship with AFAI, she also met with many of our clients and beneficiaries in Latin America and New York with whom she made an immediate and positive connection.

Also this year, Miss Universe 2011 Leila Lopes, was named our newest Ambassador of HIV Prevention. To prepare herself for the position, Lopes participated in an intensive training session under our HIV preventive education program "Cuanto Sabes de VIH y Sida?"

MARC JACOBS T-SHIRT COLLECTION FOR AID FOR AIDS

Marc Jacobs International LLC joined the list of our partners this year with the launch of two t-shirt collections.

The t-shirts went on sale in June at Marc Jacobs retail stores in the United States and online at www.marcjacobs.com, with all proceeds going to support AFAI's programs and activities.

Retail-priced at $35, each t-shirt of this collection featured a design inspired by illustrations made by children living with HIV from AFAI's Children Programs in Latin America and the Caribbean on the front, and a custom Marc Jacobs-designed AID FOR AIDS International logo in back.
